A close-up photograph showing a pair of black, heavy-duty locking pliers. The pliers are firmly gripping a brass hexagonal fitting that is part of a larger brass pipe assembly. The background is a wall made of red bricks with light-colored mortar joints. The lighting is bright, casting shadows that emphasize the textures of the metal, brick, and the grip of the pliers.

A close-up photograph of a person wearing a brown fire jacket with the number "12" on the sleeve. They are using a silver grease gun to apply lubricant to a dark, cylindrical metal pipe. The scene is dimly lit with a warm, orange glow. A white banner with the text "LUBRICATION EQUIPMENTS" is at the bottom right.
